

ABSTRACT

A releasing laminated film is provided, which film comprises a supporting film having a tensile modulus of elasticity in a traverse direction measured according to ASTM D882 of 980 to 6,860 N/mm² and 5 at least one film comprising a fluororesin laminated on at least one side of the supporting film. The releasing film is suitably used for producing a multilayered printed circuit board and a coating film.